

Untitled

You are encouraged to look again at the EANA website

<http://www.astrobiologia.pl/eana/>

where you find new information that might be of interest to you:

1. Announcement of the first workshop of the Italian Astrobiology Society, which just has been founded (Congratulations!!!)
2. a reminder of the call for nomination for the Stanley Miller Award

In addition, the following information will appear soon:

1. An ESA call for Interest for flying small external payloads on Columbus, by means of a new external platform under the following link:

<http://spaceflight.esa.int/sep>

2. Information about the successful operation of the astrobiology EXPOSE facility on the ISS.
3. The official link for the next EANA meeting