"For the next annual workshop of EANA, EANA'10, to be held in Pushchino, Russia from September 6 to 8, 2010, the Deadline for submitting abstracts, and applications for travel funds and visas is approaching:

June 4, 2010.

For more details, see: <http://www.ioffe.ru/EANA/index.html>

This will be the 10th anniversary of EANA workshops and should be celebrated by a high number of attendants. Although there have been already many international astrobiology meetings this year, you are strongly encouraged to consider participating in EANA'10. It is a tradition of EANA, to provide an ideal platform for presentations by young scientists (graduate students, PhD students and Postdocs). We are also in the position to provide modest travel support to this group.

Looking forward to meeting you in Pushchino in September
With best regards
